

Earth and Planetary Sciences Department, UC Santa Cruz

☺️🌱Development Fact Sheet: Casey Moore Fund 🌱☺️

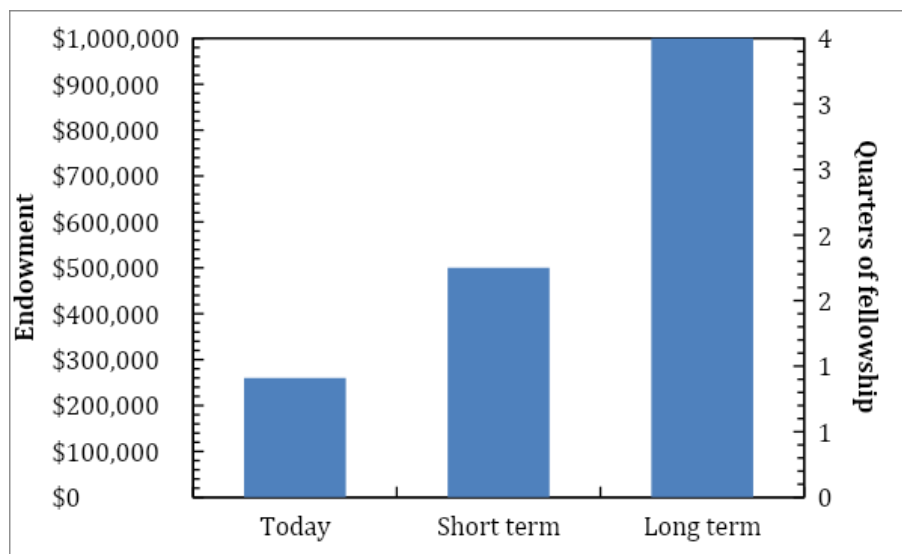

Updated: June 2020

Purpose: The Casey Moore Fund supports graduate students in the Earth and Planetary Sciences Department at UCSC as they conduct thesis-related research.

History: The Casey Moore Fund was established to honor one of the Earth and Planetary Science Department's most influential and inspirational faculty members, J. Casey Moore. The fund was organized initially by a small group of Casey's former graduate and undergraduate students, in honor of his retirement, and has generated considerable support from current and former students and colleagues. Casey passed away in Spring 2020, and this endowment will be an enduring legacy long into the future, having a positive impact on future generations of EPS students. Thanks, Casey.

Status: The Casey Moore Fund is currently endowed with ~$260,000. 🙌

Endowment Goal: Our long-term goal is to grow the endowment to $1,000,000, allowing the fund to support three academic quarters/year of graduate student fellowship or a large number of smaller research grants. The Casey Moore Fund has already contributed to fellowship support when combined with other endowment income.

Our Request: Please donate to the Casey Moore Fund in support of EPS graduate students. You could make a one-time donation or pledge to give annually.

Please see a complete listing of Casey Moore Fund recipients at the EPS website:
